Congratulations!

Preparing for a new baby is an exciting time! It also requires a lot of work as you plan for a new addition to your family. As a member of the Concordia Health Plan and the Concordia Disability and Survivor Plan, you can feel confident that you’ll have great health and disability benefits throughout your pregnancy.

Healthcare Benefits During Pregnancy

If the mother of the newborn is enrolled in the CHP, all maternity expenses are covered the same as general medical expenses. The CHP covers prenatal and postnatal care performed by a physician and maternity expenses incurred in a hospital. Actual benefits are determined based on the option in which you are enrolled.
Healthcare Benefits For Your Newborn

Most CHP options cover the routine hospital nursery care of newborn children, if enrolled within 60 days after birth. Even if you already have family coverage, you still must enroll your baby! (And if you are enrolled in a Kaiser Permanente Whole Health option, the newborn must be enrolled within 30 days of birth to be considered an eligible dependent.)

Your newborn baby’s expenses may be processed separately from the mother’s expenses. The baby’s hospital room or nursery charges will not be subject to any deductible (excluding high deductible health plan options in the CHP). For members in Kaiser Permanente options, the newborn’s charges incurred in the first 30 days are covered and processed along with the mother’s.

Covered charges include:

- All hospital expenses incurred after birth, and
- Physician’s fees for an initial routine examination of the baby or performance of a circumcision while the baby is still in the hospital following birth, but only if performed within the first seven days.

Maternity Leave: Disability Benefits

You may be eligible for disability benefits due to your pregnancy. The benefit administrator and disability case manager of the CDSP will review your disability claim and make a determination in the same way all disability claims are handled.

DISABILITY INCOME BENEFIT BASICS

Under normal circumstances, you will continue to work until delivery of your baby. If you stop working prior to delivery due to medically documented restrictions that prevent you from performing the essential duties of your job, your disability benefits may be payable prior to delivery of your baby.

Like all disability claims, there is a 14-day waiting period before disability benefits begin.

Some states provide job protection and/or mandate maternity leave for pregnant workers. While a law may mandate the availability of maternity leave, it has no effect on the payment of disability benefits. Eligibility for CDSP benefits will be governed by the provisions of the CDSP.
PRE-EXISTING CONDITION LIMITATION

If all of the following conditions apply, workers will not be paid beyond 13 weeks or the period of time the disabling condition is medically supported, whichever is shorter.

- First day of disability leave is on or after January 1, 2020*,
- Received medical treatment, consultation, care or services for the pregnancy in the three months prior to their enrollment date in the CDSP, and
- A disability claim is filed within the first 12 months of CDSP membership.

If a member is subject to these pre-existing provisions, no waiver of contributions for the Concordia Plans will be applicable either.

The pre-existing condition limitation does not apply to new graduates of LCMS universities and colleges.

* Disability benefits may not be payable for workers who have a first day of disability prior to January 1, 2020 if subject to the pre-existing limitations listed above.

DISABILITY INCOME BENEFIT PAYMENTS

Payments are processed by Lincoln Financial Group, the CDSP disability benefit administrator. After the 14-day waiting period and approval from Lincoln Financial Group, you will be eligible to start receiving disability benefits. Lincoln Financial Group has two different payment schedules depending on the duration of your disability:

- Lincoln Financial Group will issue weekly benefit checks to those on an approved disability of 26 weeks or less.
- Lincoln Financial Group will issue monthly benefit checks to those on an approved disability that exceeds 26 weeks.

DISABILITY INCOME BENEFIT DURATION

Typically the disability period following the birth of your baby is six weeks for a vaginal delivery and eight weeks for a Caesarean-section. This period includes the first 14-day waiting period before disability benefits are payable. So, in most cases, disability benefits are paid for the last four weeks of a six-week maternity leave and for the last six weeks of an eight-week maternity leave. If your maternity leave extends beyond the standard weeks, the CDSP will provide a benefit for the time you are medically considered to be disabled under the terms of the plan, and not necessarily for the total length of your absence from work.
